ated for Brother & Sisters

Making provision for her many relatives, among them the Hawaiian missionaries, and remembering even the servants of her home with bequests, the will of the late Mrs. Bathsheba M. Allen was filed in the circuit court this morning, together with a petition for special letters of administration and a petition for the appointment of executors of her will. In the petitions it is shown that her property, exclusive of her interest in the S. C. Allen Trust Estate, is valued at over $600,000. The real estate standing in her name is valued in the petition at $95,000, and her personal property, mainly made up of stocks and bonds, at $425,705.96. Out of this property she made bequests to her relatives, by blood or marriage, the amounts of the gifts ranging from $300 to $3000. With the will were filed three codicils. The first is dated June 21, 1908, the second, May 26, 1911, and the third as late as February 10, 1914. In the

HIBISCUS SHOW WILL BE UNIQUE CARNIVAL NUMBER

Several Hundred Varieties of Remarkable Flower Will Be Shown Tomorrow

There is only one place in the world where such a thing as a hibiscus show would be of any special interest, and that place is Honolulu. But it is doubtful if even residents of the territory know of the beauties of the several hundred varieties of this Gerrit P. Wilder, who has done much to popularize the hibiscus in Hawaii and who heads the committee in charge of the hibiscus show which will be held tomorrow from 11 to 4 in the National Guard Armory.

Remarkable flower which have been produced here within the past few years. By the process of artificial cross fertilization, a number of fanciful new varieties, some of which are surprisingly beautiful. Gerrit P. Wilder has perhaps done more to popularize the hibiscus in Hawaii. He is consequently the logical person to be chairman of the committee which has charge of the big show in the armory tomorrow from 11 till 4 o'clock. There will be also a beautiful fern collection and a palm collection, containing many rare specimens.

Decades of Strenuous Missionary Effort and Achievement in Hawaii Pass in Review at Historic Old Mission House; Receptions Held Daily

Great interest centers in the unique exhibit which The Friend, the missionary paper, and the members of the Cousins' Society, have prepared for the missionary review, which opened at 2 o'clock today in the old Mission house, on King street, near the Kawaiahae church. It is quite certain that during the remainder of the carnival, a very large crowd of both Hawaiians and malihinis will take advantage of the opportunity to see a really remarkable collection of relics and curios of the early missionary days of Hawaii. Many of the articles on display were brought here from around the Horn. The materials of the old mission house itself were brought to Honolulu in this way, and the old building is in itself of great interest.

The exhibit will be open each day hereafter from 10 to 12 a. m., and from 2 to 5 p. m. On Friday afternoon, the ladies of the Cousins' Society will put on a little play, entitled "A Missionary Sewing Circle." This will be staged in the rear of the building and will depict a bit of life in the islands about 1840.

The review will be in charge of different persons during the different days of the carnival, all of whom are direct descendants of early missionary families. This program has been arranged as follows: This afternoon—Miss Agnes Judd and Mrs. J. F. Boyle; Wednesday, 10 to 12 o'clock, Mrs. May Wilcox, 2 to 5 o'clock, Mrs. Roney Scott; Thursday, 10 to 12, Mrs. J. D. Westervelt and Mrs. Jonathan Shaw, 2 to 5, Theodore Richards and Rev. Frank Scudder; Friday, 10 to 12, Mrs. A. C. Alexander, 2 to 5, Miss Charlotte Hall, Mrs. Theodore Richards, Mrs. Maria Forbes and Miss Snow.

L. M. VETLESEN IS NAMED CONSUL FOR NORWAY IN TERRITORY

L. M. Vetlesen, cashier of the Mutual Telephone Company, and a well-known sportsman, has been appointed consul for Norway for the Hawaiian islands, succeeding F. Klump, who recently resigned from H. Hackfeld & Co., and is taking a long absence from the territory.

Mr. Vetlesen has informed Governor Pinkham of the appointment and will later present the official documents, qualifying him as the latest addition to the local consular corps. The appointment will be a very popular one, as Mr. Vetlesen numbers his friends all over the islands.

In response to a request issued several days ago, the public utilities com-

JEFF M'CARN QUILTS JOB FOR BREAKWATER COMPANY IN HONOLULU

That the Breakwater Company receivership matter in federal court might end abruptly this afternoon was indicated this morning when U. S. District Judge Clemens continued the argument on the petition until 2 p. m., by which time it was thought a cable might be received from Philadelphia. This cable was expected to confirm Ed J. Lord's affidavit, that trustees for the alleged bankrupt concern were appointed there today, thus making impossible the appointment of a receiver for the firm's Hawaiian properties.

A new feature was added to the case this morning by the withdrawal of both U. S. District Attorney Jeff McCarn and Attorney C. W. Ashford. The former, acting as the eastern receivers' local legal representative, withdrew in favor of Judge A. S. Humphreys, while Ashford asked that his name as candidate for appointment as receiver locally be replaced by that of Richard Trent.

The members of William McKinley Lodge No. 8, K. of P., will meet in their hall, Fort and Beretania streets, at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

BLOODLESS ANNUAL WAR WITH JAPAN IS FOUGHT

Capture of Hawaii Gone Over, as Usual, Preliminary to Regular Fortification Bill

By C. S. ALBERT.

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 5.—The annual war with Japan passed off free from bloodshed and without destruction of property. Every year the capture of Hawaii is gone over from beginning to end in hearings preliminary to the regular fortifications bill. Coincidentally propositions are advanced in the usual immigration bill to bar out all Asiatics, placing the Japanese in the same class as Chinese and negroes.

The bloodless battles this year were more noisy than heretofore. The net results were the same. The president and the senate will smooth out all the wrinkles caused by the house and peace will prevail in the past.

The exclusion of Japanese was fought out in the immigration bill to a fare-you-well. An amendment offered by Representative Hayes of California barring all Asiatics and making no exception to the Japanese, was voted into the bill one day and eliminated the next. The Republicans joined the administration Democrats and struck out the obnoxious provision. The debate was of the customary lurid character and caused all sorts of thrills in anticipation of war.

General Wood and other army officers told the house committee how Hawaii would be taken by the Japanese in the event of war. They said it would be impossible to hold the islands. Rear-admiral Vreeland, who appeared for Admiral Dewey, did not go quite that far. He insisted the Hawaiian islands must be abandoned in the event of hostilities unless the American navy was sufficiently powerful to save them. He appeared to urge the construction of four battle-ships of the first class this year.

Secret hearings added to the war-like complexion of things. Only enough of the details would seep out to prove irritating all around and confusing to the lay mind.

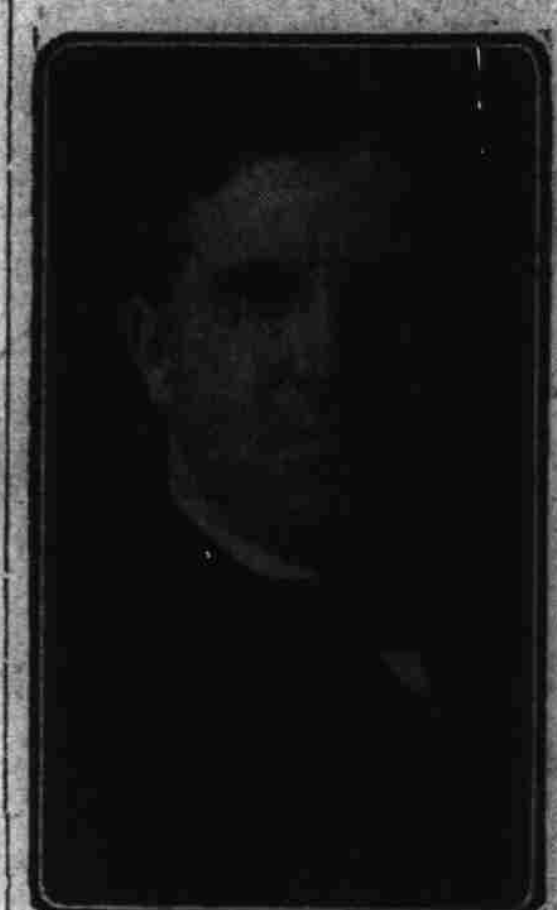

If the end Hawaii was much benefited because an unusually large sum was allowed for pushing to comple-

PYROTECHNICS AT MOILIILI TO BE TODAY'S FEATURE

Many Magnificent Numbers on Bill To Be Offered by Experts from Los Angeles

The big feature of today's Carnival program will undoubtedly be the great pyrotechnic display which will be staged by the Willson Fireworks Company at 8 o'clock this evening at the Moiliili baseball park. The program contains 59 numbers, including aerial and set pieces, many of which are said to be among the most recent novelties in the fireworks makers' art. It is very certain that there has never been a display of fireworks in the islands that can in any way be compared with tonight's feature. They are being put on under the personal direction of William H. Willson, head of the company who came to Honolulu from Los Angeles especially for the purpose. He is exceedingly anxious to make a big showing, and this has led him to arrange for an even more elaborate program than his contract with the carnival committee calls for.

J. A. M. Johnson, chairman committee in charge of pyrotechnic display, which will be today's feature of Carnival, to take place at Moiliili park commencing at 8 o'clock this evening.

The committee which has had charge of the arrangements for the several pyrotechnic spectacles for the Carnival week, is headed by J. A. M. Johnson, as chairman, and the committee has been exceedingly busy for several weeks in perfecting arrangements of details which will insure the greatest success. The committee is composed of the following members: J. A. M. Johnson, chairman; H. B. Giffard, Irwin Spalding, George A. McDowney, J. L. Friel, O. C. Scott, Ernest P. Clark, J. M. Levy, Robert M. McCortison.

Major Marquart is the oldest officer in length of service with the 2d Infantry, having been in that regiment for 22 years, or during his entire period of commissioned service. He will be much missed by his many friends.

WELFLEET, Mass., Feb. 17.—Four men lost their lives when the Italian bark Castagna struck the outer bar at Cape Cod while the vessel was about 300 yards offshore, while seven exhausted sailors were rescued after a hard fight. The frozen bodies of Captain Garva and three sailors were left in the rigging of the ship, where they had lashed themselves during the darkness. A blinding snowstorm and 60-mile gale of wind made the use of lifeboats impossible. Three times life lines were shot across the decks of the vessel by the local life-savers but the sailors were too numb to rig up a life-buoy to carry them to safety.

Literacy Clause May Lead To Veto of Immigration Measure

[Associated Press Cable]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 17.—It is reported in well informed circles that President Wilson will veto the Burnett immigration measure, provided it passes Congress, the president giving as his reason the literacy test clause. It was previously supposed that Mr. Wilson heartily favored this clause. It is reported that the senators, irrespective of party, are firmly convinced that the clause is a good one and that they will retain it in the measure in the face of the reported attitude of the president. The measure is expected to pass with a very large majority.

AD CLUB VOTES 'FRISCO EXHIBIT SHOULD BE BIG

With Captain Matson Urging
$133,000 Exhibit, Members
Take Affirmative Action

Aroused by a strong address by R. O. Matheson, editor of the Advertiser, in which he urged a display at the San Francisco exposition up to the $133,000 estimate of H. P. Wood, chairman of the Hawaiian exposition committee, the Ad Club voted to support the exhibit. It was an interesting and able address. After taking up the subject of advertising from the point of view of the editorial staff, and in an address who had had experience in every department of a newspaper, he turned to the subject of Hawaii's advertising to the world and touched strongly upon the necessity of making an adequate exhibit of the fair.

"Let us make our own money," he said, referring to the matter of heavy territorial expenses, "but do not let this be the opportunity to pass the burden of the money to the people of the territory. Let us make our own money."

position fund. Captain Matson urged that the people of the territory, if necessary, make up the difference between what the territorial government can pay and the $133,000 called for in the estimates of H. P. Wood, chairman of the Hawaiian exposition committee.

As President Farrington of the Ad Club put the motion to a vote, it was something like this: "All those in favor of spending $133,000 on the exhibit, if possible, say 'aye,' and there was an instant storm of 'ayes.'"

The action was largely the result of the address read by Editor Matheson, whose subject was "Just Advertising." It was an interesting and able address. After taking up the subject of advertising from the point of view of the editorial staff, and in an address who had had experience in every department of a newspaper, he turned to the subject of Hawaii's advertising to the world and touched strongly upon the necessity of making an adequate exhibit of the fair.
